

ONLINE EDUCATION FOR UNIFOR AUTO WORKERS!

The Unifor-McMaster University Labour Studies Program: designed for Unifor auto workers. As a Unifor member working at GM, Ford or Stellantis, you can take online education from the comfort of your home, with fellow auto workers around the province, and work towards a university certificate. Why not try a course? No cost to our members, fees covered through a funding arrangement with Unifor. Retirees and members on lay-off welcome to enroll!

Unifor-McMaster Labour Studies Certificate Fall 2026 Course Schedule All Courses on Thursdays, 5:30-8:30 PM
Labour History: How did workers fight to build unions? 4 sessions; Sept 24, Oct 1, 22, 29 NEW COURSE	Sit-downs, standoffs, and ordinary workers who refused to back down. The fights that built our unions — and the battle for power on the shop floor. A real people’s history of fighting back against the 1%. Registration for this course opens Aug 31, closes Sept 17
Does auto work wear us down? 4 sessions; Oct 8, 15, Nov 5, 12 NEW COURSE	Stress, burn-out, injuries at work; anxiety and self-doubt while on lay off. Worries about money, mortgage payments, family responsibilities. How does being an autoworker, whether at the plant or on long term lay off, effect our minds, bodies and sense of who we are? Registration for this course opens Sept 17, closes Oct 1
Autoworkers Movie Night (pt. 4): Matewan (1987) 2 sessions; Dec 3, 10 NEW COURSE	A legendary, action-packed film, based on real life events, about mineworkers heroically fighting their employers, government, and strike-breakers, to win basic rights and dignity. They actually took up arms and fought the army! Registration for this course opens Nov 12, closes Nov 26
